SWRA Educational Director's Report:

Cameron Taylor, CM 10200, presented the Education Director's Activity and Education Reports.

Cameron stated that documents were handed out prior to the meeting that contained information on the education directors financial account to maintain the duties of the office. And activity that occurred that Cameron supervised since the last conference.

May 2016 approval for the Geo thermal course was granted. June 2016, we got approval for Air Distribution class that was taught in Houston. Jerry Clark CM taught a couple of classes. In Sept. in Fort Worth, the Geo Thermal class was taught for TDLR CE credit by Jim Malone CM and Cameron Taylor CM. In Oct 2016 Cameron visited New Branfauls chapter and held the Geothermal class with 6 members attending, The TDLR renewal of our provider ship was completed in October.

In April of 2017 the Geo-Thermal class will be taught again in Cowtown.

Cameron stated that the TDLR Geo thermal class expires in May 2017 and he is looking for suggestions for the following years CE class. Cameron mentioned that an Alternative Refrigerants class suggestion was brought up in discussions with members during the past couple of days. Cameron asked if there were any questions. Jim Malone requested book inventory. There are 15 Geo thermal books remaining and will be used during the Cowtown class in April.

Region 10 Director's Report:

Director, Jerry Clark CM 10481, stated "As you all know we have been very diligent to organize the International RSES in a way that is more conducive to doing business in today's atmosphere" Jerry asked Michael Thompson CMS, RSES International President, to speak regarding this.

Michael Thompson CMS, commented that the world is changing and therefore the RSES business model has to change with it.

Lori Schiavo has moved into the VP position and is doing very well. Michael mentioned the trade show and the success of giving away RSES pins for Marketing purposes,

Other challenges being worked on by RSES is the publishing of all their material on demand and providing an electronic Journal for the student population. This is what students will read.

Michael asked if there were any questions and let everyone know he is available after the meeting for any conversation.

Michael thanked us for our hospitality and said he has had a very good time at the conference.

Darwin Sharp is not in attendance this year due to medical situation with his family. Jerry noted that the Katrina Hurricane has devastated the RSES participation in Louisiana, any suggestions on how to help out with this situation is welcome.

Jerry has been contact with Louis in New Mexico, and membership is struggling there. They have 2-3 dedicated members that still attend business meetings.

Jerry stated that RSES is partnering with ESCO. We will start seeing our material in their catalog and they will be pushing for our material to be sold to secondary schools. This will help introduce the RSES name to more people.

At this time, Jerry invited his Deputy Directors to speak on behalf of their respective chapters:

Stanley Domel CMS 10196, reported that the Tri County and Austin chapters are active with education and business meetings. Georgetown has not been meeting.

Richard Bohnert, CM 10386, reported that the Hill Country is still looking for an educational chairman, and they still have an average of 7 members attending the meeting

Elena Castillo 10210, reported that the San Antonio has meetings every month and they invite students from the local technical schools. Meetings have approx. 50 – 75 people show up. A 30-minute educational session is held prior the the business meetings. Elena visits technical schools to talk to students and educates them on what to expect when they get into the job market.

James Bowman 10206, reported that the Houston chapter is trying to meet at different wholesalers, but this has been difficult. They currently meet at centrally located restaurants. They typically have 6-15 members per month and will continue to meet and promote ways to increase their attendance.

Jerry Clark CM commented that he asked James Bowman to oversee the Brazos Valley chapter, although his schedule has prohibited him to do this due to his work schedule. Jerry said the Brazos Valley chapter has been meeting in a local restaurant, with 8-16 members attending. Their core group of individuals want RSES material and education. They are trying to get John Lane from TDLR to visit them to understand what role TDLR is trying to play these days.

Jim Malone CMS 10200, started with comments on the Brenham, Brazos Valley chapter, Jim visited Brazos Valley in December and had discussions about RSES education and how important future training on natural refrigerants is going to be. While at a conference in Las Vegas Jim was approached by the Ammonia Refrigeration Association and invited to their regional natural refrigeration conference in Irving TX on May 2 and 3rd which is sponsored by RETA (Refrigeration Engineering Technician Association) They are interested in RSES getting involved with their organization. In March, there will be an international Natural Refrigerant conference in San Antonio that will run for 4 days. This will have people from Europe and Asia attending., The world is heading to Natural Refrigerant usage and RSES has a course that we should consider teaching. Jim said the Cowtown, Fort Worth Chapter, meets the second Thursday of every month and we partner with the Tarrant County College, Thanks to their Staff and instructors who are members of RSES.

Jerry Clark CM stated that Art Miller from Region 2 has been providing hydro-carbon courses at other organizations on behalf of RSES. Several members of RSES have gone to San Diego based ATMosphere <http://www.atmo.org/> events to promote RSES as a leader in Hydro-Carbon training in the future.

Wayne Young, CM 10209, announced that he will be vacating his position as deputy director, Director Jerry Clark CM asked Jaroy Roberts CMS to take over this position, which was accepted.

Jerry Clark CM spoke about the chapter that he oversees: Cross timbers has dwindled down to only a few members, The Abilene chapter is not meeting regularly, but, Jerry is working with an Abilene college to see if RSES can sponsor some educational courses at the campus. The Concho Valley has a core group of 6-8 members that meet regularly, and 1 CEU class was done in Sept. 2016 that drew 14-15 participants. Jerry has asked their members to join us at future RSES Conferences.
